You plan to secure funding for a SAM program.

You gather the following information from a customer:

Hardware inventory is incomplete.

Users install unsupported software.

All software purchasing is decentralized.

Departments use different versions of Microsoft Office.

You need to identify two benefits that support implementing a SAM program for the customer. Which two benefits should you identify? Each correct answer presents part of the solution. NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

- A. decreased IT support costs
- B. improved payment processes
- C. decreased licensing costs
- D. improved project management processes

Correct Answer: AC

Control security risks that result from the use of unauthorized software and/or a lack of knowledge of available security updates, ultimately reducing support incidents.

Software Asset Management provides financial and risk management benefits when implemented correctly. SAM implementation will show both immediate and long-term results that can help your organization have better control over software and hardware costs.

QUESTION 3

You manage the software asset lifecycle for a customer.

The customer's security policy states that employees can only install and use approved software.

You need to implement a process to support the security policy.

Which process should you implement?

- A. intrusion detection
- B. Client Access Licenses (CALs) approval
- C. license recovery
- D. change management

Correct Answer: D

Incorrect Answers:

B: If the workstations in your organization are networked, you likely depend on network server software to perform certain functions, such as file and print sharing. To access this server software legally, a Client Access License (CAL) may be required. A CAL is not a software product; rather, it is a license that gives a user the right to access the services of the server.
