QUESTION 1

Which two categories should be used for requirements in the Fit Gap Analysis spreadsheet? (Each correct answer presents part of the solution. Choose two.)

- A. additional purchase
- B. configuration
- C. gap
- D. standard feature

Correct Answer: BD

*

After completing the first round of Fit Gap Analysis, you get two figures: the degree of fit expressed in percentages, and the total estimate of the number of hours used for configuration, customization and deployment of ISV add-ons.

*

If the degree of fit is high, but the budget is still not reached, you can even skip the configuration features. Even though a requirement can be met with a standard feature through configuration, if that configuration is taking a lot of time, you might decide to skip it, especially if the importance is fairly low.

QUESTION 2

You are the project manager of a Microsoft Dynamics implementation for a manufacturing company. A project enters the design phase. Which three requirements can be addressed in this phase? (Each answer presents part of the solution. Choose three.)

- A. requirements mapped as independent software vendor (ISV) solution
- B. requirements mapped as configuration
- C. requirements mapped as customization
- D. requirements mapped as independent software vendor (ISV) workflow
- E. requirements dependent on customization

Correct Answer: ABE
