Virtualization approaches to select:

The ability to quickly analyze resource needs and dynamically allocate resources helps an IT organization enhance availability, continuity, and security, and meet or exceed service level agreements.	Make it possible to deploy, manage, and monitor secure desktop environments that users can access locally or remotely, with or without a network connection, on almost any standard desktop, laptop or tablet PC.
Because servers, storage, networking, and other resources are pooled, resources can be allocated as required.	By making infrastructure more flexible, an IT organization can deliver new applications and business services faster. Adding capacity to meet new or expanding computing requirements can be completed in a matter of minutes or hours.
